CELLER DE CAPÇANES

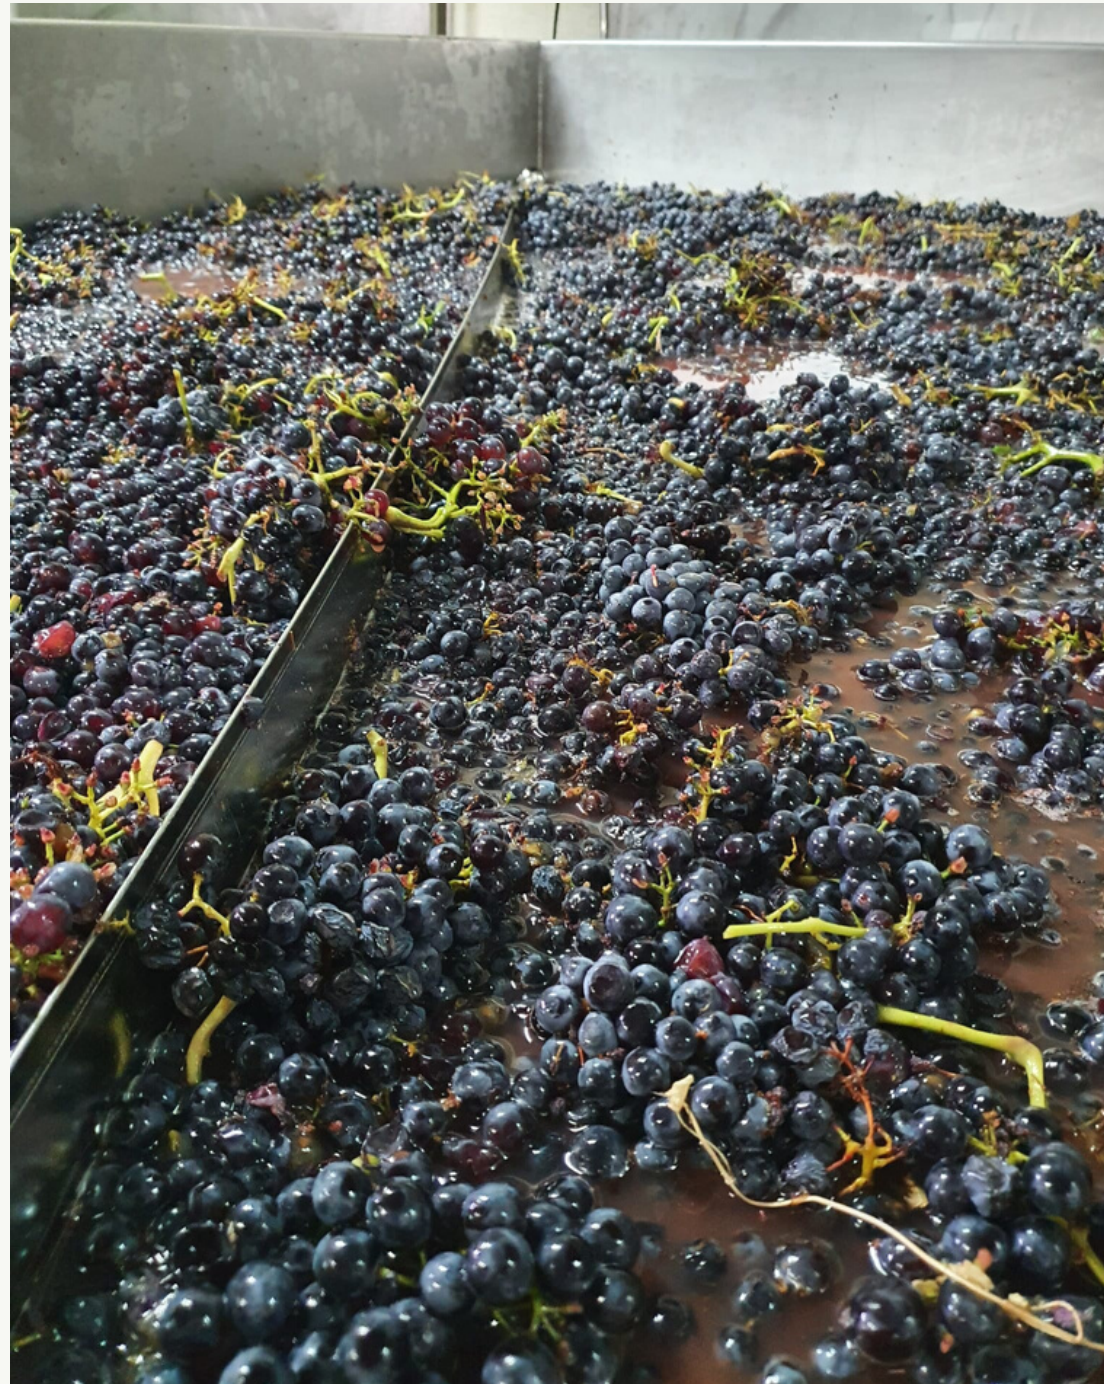

HEAT AND LONG GROWING CYCLES

Our vines have survived this year's heat and drought stress surprisingly unscathed. Frankly, it is amazing how vigorously the vines have held up, even into October. Thanks to three perfectly timed light rains of 30 liters each, in June, July and September, it has been possible for the vines to resist in good conditions. It is not only the amount of water that counts, but also how and when it rains.

The sanitary grape level was high, the quantity of grapes is within the normal range. Only the yield is lower due to small berries.

Usually, healthy grapes also mean fast fermentation processes. And so far so good, not a single tank has stuck in the fermentation process. Also a novelty.

HARVEST AND CLIMATE

VINIFICATION

TRENDS IN WINEMAKING

The trend is towards the finely nuanced use of stems during maceration, in the form of whole bunch fermentation or by re-adding smaller stem contents after destemming.

The stems improve the juice flow and, consequently, the polyphenol content. Extract depth. Ripe, woody stems enhance the tannic profile. The still greenish and "juicy" ones complement the fresh game with herbaceous notes and a bit more spice and nerve.

We will remain true to our style of minimal oak use in favor of tank aging. Less oak and more lightly toasted large wood barrels (foudres) and used barrels.

ANNA ROVIRA REMAINS UNSTOPPABLE

Special thanks to Anna Rovira, our Winemaker and Technical Director, who has followed up extensively with our growers, for her attention to detail, cooperation and grape selection efforts.

The 2022 young wines will soon be available (February 2023) and, at this point in the year, they already look unusually clear, defined and pure. The color is deep. The tannins in the reds are firm and fine grained.

The expected 2022 vintage is balanced in sugar-acid, malic/tartaric acid content, deep in color and extract values, with ripe tannins, thanks to exceptional grape health.

NEW

New collection

"Cap Sentit" aka Nonsense

"CAP SENTIT". A NEW PERSPECTIVE

Cap Sentit Pinot Noir

Varieties such as Pinot Noir (yes, planted in a warm climate!) bring lightness, freshness and finesse to our portfolio. With a perceptibly lower alcohol content, this wine manages to make us fall in love with its fresh, greenish, and graceful perfume.

Subtle and elegant, with less alcoholic strength.

Cap Sentit Orange

For the more curious minds, Capçanes has created for the first time a 100% white Garnacha in the old "brisado" way, that is to say, with a long "skin-contact" maceration (with grape skins and stems).

The result is a sensational white wine with a medium-deep beautiful golden/amber color, full-bodied and very gastronomic.
